

COMPUTER SYSTEM

Abstract

A computer system has a housing, a motherboard installed inside the housing, a cage installed on a region inside the housing and adjacent to a top surface of the motherboard, and at least an integrated drive electronics device installed inside the cage. The motherboard has the top surface, a bottom surface, and a central processing unit installed on the bottom surface for processing data.